

LNAT Vouchers

The LNAT registration system accepts major credit cards and Visa debit cards as payment for test bookings. It does not accept Switch/Maestro debit cards. Our vouchers are designed for those who have no access to an acceptable payment card, or who live in a country with credit card verification problems. The LNAT registration system will recognise the voucher number as a form of payment in place of a credit or debit card number. The voucher can be used just once. If you lose it or waste it you will have to buy another one.

You must apply to LNAT Consortium Ltd for your voucher before you book an LNAT test slot. Because of the time it takes payments to clear through the banking system, it can take us up to ten working days to process a voucher application. You must allow for this extra time in planning your LNAT bookings.

Close to the application deadlines set by universities, the LNAT test centres can become very busy and it can be hard to find a slot. You should therefore book your test sitting as far before the deadline as possible. If you are going to use a voucher, you will have to add a further two weeks on top. This is your responsibility, not ours.

You apply by sending us a paper form that can be printed out on this website, and you attach a cheque to the form. Alternatively, you email us the form, and then promptly make an internet bank transfer. A voucher number will then be sent back to you by email.

It will take us up to ten working days to process a cheque application after we receive it, and up to five working days to process an application paid by internet banking. The email itself constitutes the voucher. You will not receive a paper copy. It is your responsibility to ensure that your email is working and that our messages are not diverted into your junk-mail folder. Also take care to write your email address clearly as otherwise we cannot send your voucher to you.

There are vouchers for GBP50 that can be used to book an LNAT sitting at an EU test centre. There are also vouchers for GBP70 that can be used to book an LNAT sitting at a non-EU test centre. Paying by voucher does not change the cost of the LNAT. It is only a different way of paying.

As soon as you receive the voucher email, you can use it to make an LNAT test booking. Receipt of a voucher is not equivalent to registering for the LNAT or booking a test. You must still register online. You can complete step one of the registration process (create a profile) before you get your voucher. But you will complete step two (book a test slot) only after you receive the voucher. The voucher is your payment method. You enter it at the stage at which other people enter their credit card or debit card number. Please note that the same terms and conditions regarding cancellation and rebooking of test slots apply to voucher bookings as to all other bookings. If you do not meet these conditions, you will have to pay again to rebook.
